The Geshikhte/Story: A tiny shtetl in Dubiecko, Poland; three generations of a family klezmer band; post shabbos torchlight parade to Belzer rebbe; 1934 Bar Mitzvah on a boat to America; family members live or die in Holocaust; Jewish music manuscripts found in family violin case. Fast forward to 2009, Adrienne Greenbaum and Sharon Frant Brooks make a miraculous shidduk/shidduch, Greenbaum transcribes the many scribbled pages of music, travels to Poland and performs a few of the tunes at the cemetery, and finally, “FleytMuzik’s” musicians perform these works that were alive in early 19th c. Poland, with the full musical story coming to fruition today.

“FleytMuzik” is comprised of leading musicians of traditional klezmer. Led by internationally renowned pioneering klezmer flutist, Adrienne Greenbaum, with Pete Rushefsky, cimbalom (cimbalist with Itzhak Perlman/“In the Fiddler’s House”), Michael Alpert, badkhen (National Heritage Fellowship award, 2015), Jake Shulman-Ment, violin, Brian Glassman, bass, and guest, Walter “Zev” Mamlok, poyk.

The concert will begin with a short documentary shown by videographer, Ed Alpern
